Opinion

All created forms, from the single cell to the most complex organism (of plants, animals, or humanoids) were endowed with unlimited possibility to adapt. We are not even aware how far these adapting abilities can reach. Dzasmuchin is a woman living in Australia [1], who is not eating or drinking since 1993. She is author of many books and articles. She is advocate of living with the energy of the sun without eating and drinking.

Similar is Zinaida, living in South Russia [1]. It took one and a half month for Zinaida to adapt to not eating and drinking, but investigation of her body showed that now her anatomy is totally different from the anatomy of people who eat and drink. These two women live with the energy, which their bodies receive from the environment, and utilize this energy at cellular level [1].

Now, when we know that a quantum computer operates in our Subconscious [3], which rules and regulates everything in the body through the waves (including light) of our nonlinear electromagnetic field (NEMF), it is easy to understand that this quantum computer must be involved in the switch of these people from living on the energy of food to living on the energy of quanta of light. Thus, the switch must be done by the quantum computer, which operates with waves on the holographic principle [3].

Also, in California a child was born with AIDS because his mother had AIDS. At the University of California in Los Angeles, the child tested positive for HIV virus at birth, six months old, and one year old. When the child was 5 years old, the virus was not detected - the child was totally healthy. Studies of his DNA showed that his DNA was totally different from the DNA of every other human being [1].

Our DNA consists of 64 codons, but only 20 of them are active. This child had 24 active codons and his immune system was 3,000 times stronger [1]. He was immuned not only against HIV virus, but against any other virus. After some time 10,000 children with such DNA were registered [1]. This is a perfect illustration that we don't have a clue how unlimited the abilities of the human body to adapt are... and there are 40 more inactive codons holding their secrets.

The cited above case is also a vivid illustration that our DNA is not fixed, i.e. if we were born with certain DNA, it doesn't mean that we will die with the same DNA. Our DNA can change. Maybe one day, we will be able to imitate the DNA change of these spontaneously-healed from AIDS children, and then we will all have their strong immunity not only against the HIV virus, but against any other disease that will come.

We already can cure diseases caused by genetic defects. In Prague, a child was born with immune deficiency syndrome. Such children need to live in a breathing helmet to stay insulated from the germs and usually they don't live long. With special equipment (torsion generator) in a special hypo-geomagnetic camera, the DNA of his mother was read and projected onto him. The child recovered and happily lived ever after. In Russia, in a similar way child epilepsy and other diseases caused by genetic defects were successfully treated [1].

As far back as in year 2000, I wrote about possible DNA changes during a lifetime in my book Listen and Talk to Your Body and Soul [4]. I wrote that some people were born with genetic predisposition of dominant negative thinking. However, if understanding the harm of negative thinking, they chose to work toward changing their way of thinking, and they succeeded in shifting to positive thinking, their DNA would change and their children wouldn't be born with dominant negative thinking.

The biggest gift, which our Creator gave us, was the freedom of choice, and if we choose to change, we could, and even our DNA would change. And the material DNA is not everything; the information it carries is everything. In the Siberian Division of the Russian Academy of Medical Sciences in Novosibirsk, all DNA was removed from unfertilized frog egg. However, when torsion generator imprinted the information from already developed tadpole on this unfertilized egg with removed DNA, a tadpole developed [5].

We are making our first steps toward understanding the role our weak nonlinear electromagnetic field (NEMF) plays in ruling and regulating everything in the body. I spent almost 40 years of my life measuring it. It is 1,000 times weaker than our biocurrents, but rules and regulates not only with the energy it brings, but with the information it carries. Based on this, a new Info-Energy Medicine steps in, which can cure genetic defects – it is a powerful new beginning [1,2].
